RESPONSE TO AMENDMENT

1. Claims 1-15 and 17-26 are pending in the application, claims 19-26 are withdrawn from consideration. Claim 16 has been cancelled.
2. Amendments to the claims and specification, filed on September 6, 2007, have been entered in the above-identified application.

WITHDRAWN REJECTIONS

3. The 35 U.S.C. §103 rejection of claims 1-15, 17 and 18 as over Lux (US Patent No. 5,928,070) in view of Emerson et al. (US Publication No. 2003/0226318), made of record in office action mailed May 17, 2007, pages 2-4, paragraph #4 has been withdrawn due to Applicant's amendment in the response filed September 6, 2007.

REJECTIONS

4. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. Claims 1-15, 17 and 18 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Litzow (U.S. Patent No. 1,764,928) in view of Lux (U.S. Patent No. 5,928,070) and Biddle (U.S. Patent No. 1,764,928).

Litzow discloses a three-dimensional textured stair tread cover/ladder (col. 6, line 44-45 and figure 4) comprising a first portion (col. 6, line 45, reference # 217) with a first surface, a second surface, and at least one side wall extending between said first and second surfaces (figure 4), and a second portion (col. 6, line 45, reference # 219) with a first surface positioned at a substantially permanent angle relative to first surface of the first portion (figure 4), a second surface, and at least one side wall extending between the first and the second surfaces of the second portion (figures 4). The angle between the first surface of the first portion and the first surface of the second portion is at least 45 degrees and the first portion and the second portion are integral (figure 4). The first portion forms an anti-slip surface for foot traffic (col. 1, lines 7-24) and the second portion is configured to extend along the front of a step when the three dimensional textured stair tread cover is placed on a step (figures 3 and 6).

Litzow fails to disclose that the first and second portions comprise a web and a binder, the web comprising a multitude of substantially continuous three-dimensional undulated thermoplastic filaments autogenously bonded where they contact one another and wherein the filaments have a diameter in a range from 0.1 to 3 mm and has a coil weight in a range from 0.1 to 3.0 kg/m². The thermoplastic filaments comprise at least one of polycaprolactum or poly(hexamethylene adipamide) (col. 6, lines 57-61). The article further comprises a quantity of particles affixed to the surface. The particles are in the range of 0.1 to 5 kg/m² and comprise at least one of slag, alumina, thermoplastic polymer, thermoset polymer, glass mullite, sand, rubber, pumice, topaz, garnet, corundum, silicon carbide, zirconia, ceramic, aluminum oxide, or diamond (col. 8, lines 46-65). The article further comprises a size coat. The binder and size coat comprise polyurethane (col. 7, line 41 and col. 8, lines 39-44).

Lux discloses an abrasive article (title) comprising a web (col. 5, lines 64-67) and a binder (col. 7, line 41). The web comprising a multitude of substantially continuous three dimensionally undulated thermoplastic filaments autogenously bonding where they contact one another, wherein the filaments have a diameter in a range from 0.1 mm to 3 mm and the web has a coil web in a range from 0.1 to 3.0 kg/m² (col. 5, lines 64-67 and col. 6, lines 7-26).

Biddle discloses that articles with abrasive surfaces are adapted for use as a tread for stairs, grinding wheels, etc. (page 1, lines 50-65).

Therefore, since abrasive materials are recognized as functional equivalents in grinding wheels and treads for stairs at the time the invention was made, one of ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to use Lux's abrasive material as the slip resistant material in Litzow.

ANSWERS TO APPLICANT'S ARGUMENTS

6. Applicant's arguments in the response filed September 6, 2007 regarding the previous rejection of record have been considered but are moot since the rejections have been withdrawn.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Douglas et al (US Patent 6,013,22) discloses the use of sandpaper as a slip resistant surface.

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
